Non-Final Action on Merits

Acknowledgement is made of the response and election of group I (claims 1-29) filed on 3/14/05. Claims 1-109 are pending. Claim 12 is allowed. Claims 20 and 21 are objected. As has been mentioned earlier that Examiner will rejoin the method claims when the compounds would be allowable in a condition that they are fully supported in the specification.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 1616

2. Claims 1-11, 13-19 and 22-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-11 and 14-16 of U.S. Patent No. 5843928. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because presently claimed invention is considered obvious over the reference. See the entire document especially the abstract, summary of invention, and claims.

3. Presently claimed invention is generically claimed by the US '928. The invention is considered obvious when X represents H, alkyl or hydroxy protecting group and US '928 when R6 and R8 represent hydroxyalkyl group. Presently claimed invention is drawn to 2-hydroxypropylidene-19-nor compounds and their derivatives. Even though none of the exemplified compounds represent hydroxy propylidene compounds as presently claimed however, claims do recite generically presently claimed compounds.

4. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to prepare additional beneficial compounds at the time of invention because the reference teaches such compounds.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains.

Art Unit: 1616

Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-11, 13-19 and 22-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over United States Patent No. 6,392,071 (DeLUCA et al.). See the entire document especially abstract, and summary of the invention. See line last two lines in col. 2 and line 1 in col. 3 where R6 and R8 can be hydroxy alkyl.

Instant claims differ from the reference in that they are of different generic scope. It had been held by Courts that the indiscriminate selection of “some” from among “many” is considered prima facie obvious. In re Lemin, 141 USPQ 814 (1964); National Distillers and Chem. Corp. V. Brenner, 156 USPQ 163.

Instant claims are generically taught by the prior art and would have been suggested to one skilled in the art.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to prepare additional beneficial hydroxypropylidene vitamin D compounds as presently claimed because prior art teach hydroxyalkyl substituted on 2-methylene vitamin D. Prior does not teach any specific compound in the examples or in claims however, these compounds are generically taught and therefore considered obvious.

The instant claimed compounds would have been obvious because one skilled in the art would have been motivated to prepare compounds embraced by the genus of the above cited references with the expectation of obtaining additional beneficial compounds.

One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to select the claimed compounds from the genus in the reference since such compounds would have been suggested by the reference as a whole. It has been held that a prior art disclosed genus of useful compounds is sufficient to render prima facie obvious a species falling within the genus. In re Susi, 440 F.2d 442, 445, 169 USPQ 423, 425 (CCPA 1971), followed by the Federal Circuit in Merck & Co. V. Biocraft Laboratories, 874 F.2d 804, 10 USPQ 2d 1843, 1846 (Fed. Cir. 1989).

In the light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner's ultimate legal conclusion is that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 12 is allowed. Prior art of record does not teach methoxymethoxy propylidene vitamin D compounds as claimed.
6. Claims 20 and 21 are objected for depending on a rejected claim. If written separately these claims would be allowed.
